

Full-text search in Primus:

Please note that access to licensed electronic resources from home is only available to HU members.

1. Log on to the HU network:

To access licensed full texts, you must be in the HU network. To do this, log on to the HU network via VPN ('Virtual Private Network'). Please note that some resources are not accessible via VPN, but only from the local HU network.

2. Access to Primus via the UB website:

The screenshot shows the website's navigation menu with 'Search & Catalogues' highlighted. A dropdown menu lists 'Primus Gateway', 'Electronic Journals', 'Databases', 'Digital Collections', and 'edoc Publication server'. The search bar contains 'Your query ...' and is highlighted with a red box. Below the search bar, the text 'I am here: Home' and 'University Library of Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin' are visible. At the bottom, there are links for 'UB-Blog' and 'News'.

2.1 You can enter your search query directly on the UB website into the Primus search slot.

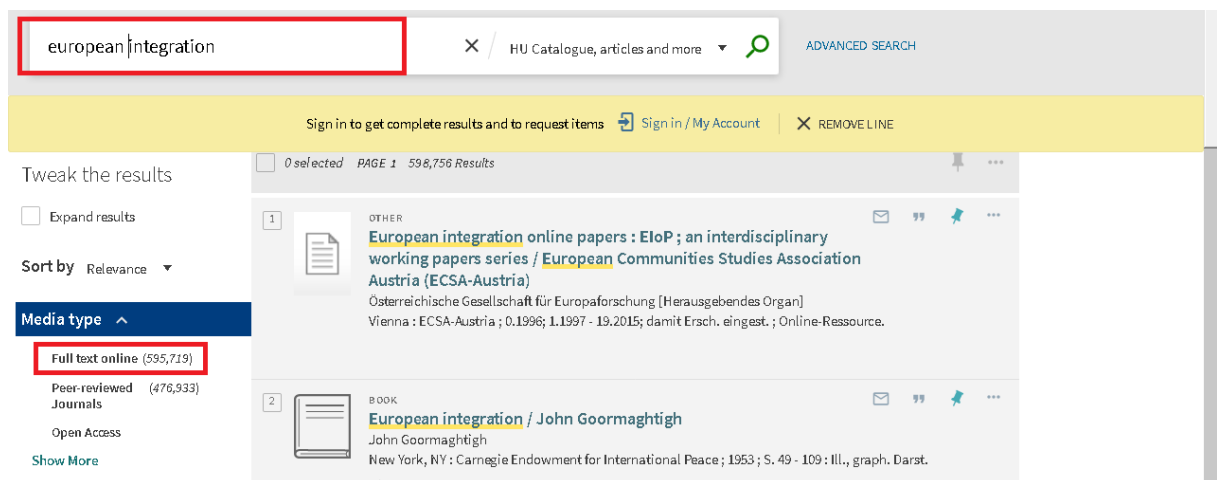

2.2 Alternatively, you can also access the Primus search portal via "Search & Catalogues".

3. Search:

3.1 First enter your search query in the search slot.

3.2 Then restrict the so-called "Facets" under "Media type" on the left to "Full text online".

The restriction is then displayed as an active filter on the left side of the facets.

The screenshot shows the search results page for the query 'european integration'. The search bar contains the query and is highlighted with a red box. The results are displayed in a list format. The first result is 'European integration online papers : EIoP; an interdisciplinary working papers series / European Communities Studies Association Austria (ECSA-Austria)'. The second result is 'European integration / John Goormaghtigh'. On the left side, the 'Media type' facet is expanded, and 'Full text online (595,719)' is selected, highlighted with a red box. Other facets include 'Peer-reviewed Journals (476,933)' and 'Open Access'.

Experiencing European Integration: Transnational Lives and European Identity
Theresa Kuhn

ABSTRACT
European integration has generated a wide array of economic, political, and social opportunities beyond the nation state. Scandinavians spending their retirement at the Mediterranean coast; Germans employing a Polish caretaker; international exchange students staying in Prague; Italian baristas serving cappuccino in British coffee shops—they are all part of an integrating Europe and seem to reflect the 'Unity in diversity' that is desired by European policy makers. As an early theorist of European integration, Karl Deutsch expected this development to promote a collective identity and support ... More >

1 Introduction

3.7 In the case of journal articles, it is often necessary to first retrieve the year of publication and, if necessary, the issue in order to access the desired article. This may require some intermediate steps. Many journals offer older volumes in a separate section ("Archive", "Issues" or similar).
